DR. ALEXANDER WRABETZ
DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE AUSTRIAN BROADCASTING CORPORATION, ORF

- Since 2000, more than six million visitors have turned the “ORF Long Night of Museums” into a significant yearly cultural event in Austria. An impressive number, which has been reached due to the successful co-operation of the museums, galleries and cultural institutions participating and the ORF, being the biggest producer and host of cultural events in the country. Once again, the 19th “ORF Long Night of Museums” promises an extensive cultural programme – all included in only one ticket: 700 museums, galleries and cultural institutions all over Austria will open their doors on October 6th 2018 from 6 pm to 1 am. The programme is topped off with temporary exhibitions, special guided tours, varied offers for children and much more. I want to thank all the institutions participating, all our partners and sponsors for a successful co-operation, and the ORF team for their excellent organisational work. I wish all the visitors an unforgettable “ORF Long Night of Museums”.

DR. BRIGITTE WOLF
HEAD OF THE REGIONAL ORF STUDIO VIENNA

- This year, the “ORF Long Night of Museums” will take place for the 19th time. And again, there will be numerous opportunities to get an overview of Vienna’s cultural diversity, to discover something new or to deepen one’s knowledge. In Vienna alone, 135 museums and cultural institutions invite culture lovers to a nightly tour. ORF Vienna will be accompanying its audience through this “Long Night”. The TV programme “Wien heute” will report from the last preparations in the museums at 7 pm, provide live coverage and will offer a follow-up report with highlights on Sunday. Radio Wien will focus on the “Long Night” from 8 pm to midnight, with reports and live coverage directly from the museums. At the MuseumsQuartier Wien, a Radio Wien DJ will provide good music. The Funkhaus (broadcasting centre) will also open its doors again: In the course of backstage tours, starting half-hourly from 6 pm on, visitors can get to know the inside of a broadcasting station.

WOLFGANG MUCHITSCH, PRESIDENT OF THE AUSTRIAN MUSEUMS
ASSOCIATION / MUSEUMSBUND ÖSTERREICH
& DANIELLE SPERA, PRESIDENT OF ICOM AUSTRIA

- Museums take up a key role in the cultural scene in Austria: Being institutions which are conserving the Austrian cultural, artistic and natural heritage in their collections, they bear great responsibility. Each individual object must be recorded, handled and preserved. Not all of the objects can be displayed in exhibitions, though. They are being stored in archives, where they are available to researchers. From those extensive collections, curators compile exhibitions which allow for views into distant times and places in order to help gain a new perspective on our present and on options for the future. Museums are places for encounters and discourse, where visitors are being presented with a new scope of ideas. In museums, people can discuss and reflect, get into conversation with each other and actively commit themselves to a better understanding of each other. The “ORF Long Night of Museums” offers you the unique opportunity to visit not only one museum but many. Make use of this special occasion and learn about the history and stories of times past and of distant worlds in the Austrian museums. We are looking forward to welcoming you!

Registered Austrian museums manage a collection of objects, document them in an inventory, and offer regular opening hours (www.museen-in-oesterreich.at).

II The Long-Night Tram

around Ringstraße in a vintage tram
1010 Vienna
www.rentabim.at

The historical Viennese trams illustrate the development of urban public transport in Vienna. 15 of the exhibits of the VEF (“Verband der Eisenbahnfreunde”, the association of train lovers) are included in the extensive collection of “Remise – Transport Museum of Wiener Linien” at Erdberg. Another 16 carriages, which were built between 1913 and 1963, are being used for extra tours. Two authentic trains were assembled from this stock, identical to the ones operated on Vienna’s Ringstraße for many decades. One of the two trains is a typical “M-Dreiwagenzug” (three-carriage train) from 1929, which once gave the tram lines A, Ak, B and Bk their characteristic appearance. The second one is a carriage train just like the ones that were used on the lines J, T and D. The vintage trams are marked with “Lange-Nacht-Bim” and will operate on Ringstraße and Kai between 6 pm and 1 am in clockwise direction. Discover the history of Vienna’s municipal transport first-hand in this museum in motion.

RIDES IN 15-MINUTE INTERVALS

From the stops Oper, Burgring, Bellaria, Börse, Schwedenplatz, Stubentor, Schwarzenbergplatz.

6 Alfred Adler Center International (AACI)

Hernalser Hauptstraße 15
1170 Vienna
www.oevip.at 01 / 406 24 35

The AACI hosts the Austrian Association for Individual Psychology (OEVIP), which was founded by Alfred Adler more than 100 years ago. Through the sociopolitical commitment of its members, individual psychology has received a considerable boost. To this day, it is considered one of the three most important schools of depth psychology. The exhibition “Disruption and Continuity of Individual Psychology in Vienna. The Time between 1930 and 1960” is dedicated to the pioneers. Due to the expulsion and assassination of the Jewish individual psychologists, the Austrian association came to an end. However, a few individual psychologists could continue their work after 1945.

7 Old Viennese Schnapsmuseum

Wilhelmstraße 19–21
1120 Vienna
www.schnapsmuseum.com
01 / 815 73 00

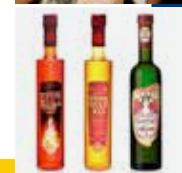

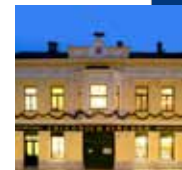

The Old Viennese Schnapsmuseum, which has been in the possession of the Fischer family for five generations, offers a unique insight into the tradition of schnaps and liqueur production. The tour through the museum – from the office from 1904 to the old distillers from the 19th century – provides interesting facts about schnaps and will also carry visitors away to the good old days of the monarchy. Some of the recipes of the Friedrich Fischer distillery date back as far as the 19th century and have been traditionally passed on from father to son. The Old Viennese Schnapsmuseum continues the tradition of liqueur production and specialises in absinthe.

GUIDED DISTILLERY TOURS

Guided tours of the museum will be offered every 15 minutes.

Start of the first tour: 6 pm.

Start of the last tour: 12.45 am.

NOTE: The tours end with tastings of in-house products, such as the “Vienna Gold X.O.”, a liqueur refined with 23-carat leaf gold. For children, homemade raspberry juice is also available.

8 Altes Rathaus (Old Town Hall) – Museum of the District of Innere Stadt (1st District)

Wipplingerstraße 8

1010 Vienna

www.bezirksmuseum.at

01 / 40 00-01127

The Museum of the District of Innere Stadt shows the development of the city of Vienna, which was equivalent to today's first district for almost 1000 years. The formation of the city, of its fortifications, markets, churches and palaces is presented in the form of a walk-in picture book with exhibits, maps, images and documents. The era of Maria Theresa and her famous son Emperor Joseph II, and also the Congress of Vienna are documented in pictures.

Emperor Francis Joseph's era started with the bourgeois uprising of 1848. His decision to have the city walls torn down paved the way for the development of Vienna towards becoming a European metropolis. Unique exhibits reflect this era, which ended abruptly in 1914. They are complemented by showpieces leading up to the present.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION "SACRAL BUILDINGS IN THE FIRST DISTRICT"

One part of the exhibition deals with a selection of Catholic churches and chapels, one with the topic of "Diversity and Tolerance" and another one with monasteries that were shut down by Joseph II.

The Old Town Hall has been in the possession of the City of Vienna since 1316. It served as the seat of the City Council and the mayor for more than 550 years. On May 26th, 1848, during the days of the Revolution in Vienna, the Committee of Safety for the Maintenance of Order, which had been elected by the people of Vienna, met in the Old Town Hall. Before moving to the new City Hall, meetings of the City Council took place on this site. Today, part of the Old Town Hall houses the District Council of Innere Stadt (1st district).

Especially the Coat of Arms Hall and the former Council Chamber provide a good insight into the past.

TOUR WITH THE HEAD OF THE 1ST DISTRICT, MMAG. MARKUS FIGL (6 PM AND 10.30 PM)

1080 Vienna
www.daslebensmittel.at 01 / 514 50-6315

The Viennese bakers' guild was first mentioned in records from 1227. Since 1895, the property in Florianigasse 13 has been in the possession of the guild. An additional building in the style of the German Renaissance was added to the courtyard in 1898 to be used for administration, training and further education.

Since 2000, the guild house has been the centre of the Viennese catering trades (bakers, butchers, confectioners and other food trades).

During the "ORF Long Night of Museums", the banquet hall will be open to the general public. Short films will give an insight into historical details of the catering trades. Master bakers and confectioners will show their craft up close in the guild's workshop.

HALF A MILLENNIUM

On the 1st floor: the historical part of the Bakers' Museum includes 38 certificates, 7762 documents and 125 volumes of manuscripts, countless historical objects and the ballroom, which is especially worth seeing. They all add up to half a millennium of bakers' trade history.

From the early beginnings, when sheepskin and co. were still used as a protection against diseases, to odd inventions and ideas concerning condoms and contraception. Condoms out of latex have existed since the 1920s. Still untested at that time, they have undergone considerable transformations since. Being the only way of contraception before the 60s and the invention of the pill, they were later reserved for visits to brothels, and had to be freed from taboos again in the 80s and 90s. Today, condoms are considered very modern, being essential in the prevention of sexually transmittable diseases. They are available in vegan and fair trade versions or even latex free and are often used as an alternative to hormonal contraception again. The collection, compiled with special care over more than 20 years, consists of items from almost 100 years of machine-made condoms. It is located in the vaulted cellar of the shop Liebenswert on 100 sqm.

34 Deserters Memorial, Ballhausplatz

Ballhausplatz
1010 Vienna
www.deserteursdenkmal.at

To this day, many people are still asking themselves what the three-tiered horizontal X at Ballhausplatz represents. The “ORF Long Night of Museums” serves as a perfect occasion to increase the awareness for the Memorial for the Victims of Nazi Military Justice. The memorial created by artist Olaf Nicolai in 2014 constitutes the peak of social and legal rehabilitation of Austrian Wehrmacht deserters, “Wehrkraftzersetzer” and conscientious objectors, which is mainly owed to the committee “Justice for the Victims of Nazi Military Justice” and the Green Party.

Guides will be happy to inform you about the background of the memorial at any time during the night.

37 The Future of Memory – Museum Simon Wiesenthal

Rabensteig 3
1010 Vienna
museum.wvi.ac.at 01 / 890 15 14-16

Simon Wiesenthal (1908–2005) dedicated his life after the Holocaust to the uncovering and the criminal prosecution of the crimes of National Socialism. His motives were as clear as the task was complex: justice for the victims and a warning for coming generations.

Simon Wiesenthal's thought and work are the foundations of the Vienna Wiesenthal Institute for Holocaust Studies (VWI). The three early modern vaults on the ground floor of the institute building, which have housed the Simon Wiesenthal Museum since January 2017, are thus foundations in a dual sense. The core of this little museum is formed by biographical and personal documents as well as video extracts and archival materials from his estate.

45 Torture Museum

Fritz-Grünbaum-Platz 1, Esterházypark
1060 Vienna
www.foltermuseum.at 01 / 595 45 93

The torture museum is located in a former World War II air-raid shelter beneath the Esterházypark in Vienna. The exhibition shows the development of the judicial system in Europe from antiquity to the modern age. The information is presented in an entertaining way and takes the visitors back to the times of their ancestors. Where were the places of execution located? Which methods of torture were applied during the time of Maria Theresa? How and why did people get burned as sorcerers and witches? These and many more questions are answered by means of a multitude of exhibits and scientific texts.

The organisers of this museum are, of course, strongly opposed to torture. For them, the purpose of exhibiting the tools of torture, execution, and punishment is to act as a warning. Correspondingly, the curators of the museum have endeavored to make the exhibition as educational as possible, as well as entertaining.

- 58 Emperor Francis Joseph Hat Museum
- 56 Imperial & Royal Wine Treasure Vaults

Piaristengasse 45
1080 Vienna
www.piaristenkeller.at 01 / 406 01 93

The Emperor Francis Joseph Hat Museum is an interactive museum situated in the middle of a 300-year-old monastery wine cellar. In addition to valuable collector's items in the showcases, the hat museum offers individual hats from the "good old times" which may be worn during the guided tour of the interactive museum.

GUIDED MUSEUM TOURS

In contrast to the traditional approach of museums, where visitors just look at the objects, guests of the tour programme at the Emperor Francis Joseph Hat Museum and the Imperial and Royal Wine Treasure Vaults can actually 'experience' the active effect of history and spirit of the imperial times by putting on an original Viennese hat.

By wearing those hats, visitors slip into the roles of the personalities of the Viennese society of the past, and are then encouraged to take an active part in old Austrian imperial court customs of the 19th century (such as hand kissing). The main emphasis of the hat museum is on hats from the time of Emperor Francis Joseph I, which was an outstanding period considering the diversity of headwear worn by the noble Viennese society and the splendid uniforms of the imperial army.

NOTE Take part in some wine tasting in the wine cellar during your visit and enjoy a glass of Sisi sparkling wine (€ 3,-) – a treat for the palate and the soul. Children are offered a glass of "Scout special" (€ 1,-).

KAISERLICHE
SCHATZKAMMER
WIEN

Austria is currently holding the presidency of the Council of the European Union. This is the occasion for lively debates about what Europe is, and what it should be in the future. The Imperial Treasury is well-suited as a forum for this discourse, since many of the objects preserved here are directly related to Europe's past. For example, the crown of the Holy Roman Empire, dissolved in 1806, as well as the crown of the Austrian Empire. These two insignia are central symbols of Europe's history.

The project "It's All About Europe" seeks to spotlight the continent's cultural diversity. It is from the European perspective then that twelve objects are examined afresh. The intention is to elucidate the historic context in which these works of art were created, and thereby to make perceptible the diverse roots from which the "European Idea" grew.

IT'S ALL ABOUT EUROPE! (7 PM, 8 PM AND 9 PM)

Guided tours with the director of the Treasury, Fritz Fischer.

Floridsdorfer Markt 5

01 / 40 00-59255

Life at the markets in Vienna was already very busy 1,000 years ago. Names of streets and places in the first district still remind of those former market places: Hoher Markt, Fleischmarkt, Bauernmarkt, etc. The organisation and regulations of those old market places were frequently mentioned. But who was responsible for their compliance? Since the year 1839, it has been the Market Office of the Municipality of Vienna.

The Museum of the Market Office of the Municipality of Vienna gives an insight into this long period of existence. Pictures of market places from the past and present are on display. Formerly used measures are explained, and visitors are invited to lift a centner. Scales that are about 130 years old or even older can be tried out and/or inspected. Historical and modern food controls are illustrated with pictures and with the tools used.

82 Museum of Aspern-Essling 1809

Asperner Heldenplatz 9
1220 Vienna
www.aspern-essling-1809.eu
0664 / 49 78 71 62

The Museum of Aspern-Essling offers an overview of the military conflict between the French and Austrian troops in May 1809, displaying different sorts of weapons, uniforms, letters, bullets and pictures of the military leaders. In 1858, Archduke Albrecht had a monument erected as a commemoration of the victims of that war. This monument, the “Lion of Aspern”, was built by the sculptor Anton Fernkorn. The lion is portrayed lying on French banners. The French Eagle and the flags are the symbols of the French cavalry. The animal’s head is positioned on a French helmet. The lion symbolises the brave soldiers. The victory of soldiers of a German speaking country over the French army is represented by the oak leaves around the pedestal. In the face of the dying lion you can read melancholy and anger, in its posture strength and steeliness. Pressing his nails into the stone, the animal is dying.

“ON THE TRACKS OF 1809”

The author Hans Holba provides information on walking tours in the Lobau.

MUSEUM INFORMATION IN FRENCH

Upon demand, a staff member will give information in French.

NOTE The brochure “Auf den Spuren von 1809” (“On the tracks of 1809”) and the stamp “Der Löwe von Aspern” (“The Lion of Aspern”) are available at the museum.

83 Museum of Contraception and Abortion

Mariahilfer Gürtel 37, 1st floor
1150 Vienna
en.muvs.org
0699 / 17 81 78 04

What is a bidet for? How does the coil work, and what does Coca-Cola have to do with contraception, for that matter?

The world’s first and only museum of contraception and abortion has been getting to the bottom of these questions since 2007. With the aid of objects, pictures and stories, the MUVS recounts the bitter struggle for control of fertility. Starting from antiquity and going through the Middle Ages, right up to the present day, with a look to the future, medical, political and social developments are documented and discussed.

About 100 years ago, fertility still meant that a woman’s life was marked by on average 15 pregnancies, 10 births and 8 children. Mankind had first to learn, through a long and arduous process, how to adapt this natural degree of fertility to the number of children desired by each individual/couple. It is only because of this that today, in many places, we are able to live with autonomy over our sexuality and fertility.

A visit to the MUVS touches, moves and amazes. Perhaps you will be a little more thoughtful when you leave than when you came in.

84 Museum at the Schottenstift

Freyung 6
1010 Vienna
www.schotten.wien
01 / 534 98-600

When founded in 1155, the Schottenstift was populated by Irish Benedictine monks (Latin “Scoti”). The last of the Irish monks left the Viennese monastery in August 1418. They handed the building over to Austrian Benedictines, who are still living there today. On the occasion of the 600th anniversary of this event, the Museum at the Schottenstift shows precious historical records and documents from its archives. Usually not open to the public, Romanesque elements of the church can be visited in the course of guided tours. They are part of the oldest building fabric of Vienna.

The high altar by the “Schottenmeister”, featuring the oldest topographically accurate representation of medieval Vienna, is also particularly worth seeing. The exhibition includes numerous paintings from the 17th and 18th centuries and the time of Biedermeier in Vienna, and also furniture and liturgical utensils.

For the tours, the library of the Schottenstift, without doubt one of the most beautiful libraries in Europe, which usually is not accessible, is open to the public, too.

Children and teenagers can gain an insight into the life of monks.

CHILDREN’S TOUR (7 PM)

The Museum Judenplatz sheds light on Vienna’s formerly flourishing Jewish community in the exhibition “Jewish Vienna in the Middle Ages”. Numerous objects, a computer-animated reconstruction of the medieval synagogue and a virtual tour of the exhibition allow visitors to better comprehend the living conditions at that time.

TOURS OF THE EXCAVATIONS OF THE MEDIEVAL SYNAGOGUE (8.30 PM, 9.30 PM, 10.30 PM AND 11.30 PM)

Reservation cards are available at the ticket counter of the museum from 8 pm.

CURRENT EXHIBITION “PERSECUTED. ENGAGED. MARRIED. MARRIAGES OF CONVENIENCE IN EXILE” (FROM 8 PM)

March 1938 marked the start of a race against time for Austrian Jews. Some Viennese Jewish women sought to escape through marriages of convenience with foreign citizens. The marriages were concluded on paper, be it out of solidarity or against payment, to enable these women to reach a country where Jews were not (yet) persecuted. Women who had already left Austria entered into marriages of convenience so as to avoid being stateless or in order to acquire a work permit.

NOTE. The museum is open from 8 pm, due to Shabbat (Jewish day of rest).

NOTE. The exhibitions are accessible barrier-free, the excavations are not.

90,000 sqm, 60 cultural institutions – the MuseumsQuartier Wien is one of the largest complexes for contemporary art and culture in the world and at the same time an oasis of calm and rest in central Vienna.

With the creative space Q21, the MQ further provides workspace for around 50 initiatives working in the cultural sector. “frei_raum Q21 exhibition space” shows temporary group exhibition projects with the contribution of artists-in-residence and curators-in-residence as part of Q21/MQ, focusing on topics that are critical of society.

“UNDER PRESSURE – ON AUTHORITARIAN FORMS AND THE POWER OF DECISIONS”

The exhibition deals with authoritarian tendencies, which have been increasingly emerging in political and economic areas as well as in fields of AI development. Majorities for politicians with authoritarian styles, and authoritarian structures of IT systems lead to the question whether new authoritarian forms differ in how they allow for individual liberties or at least pretend to do so.

Stars are the light sources in the universe! They produce energy within their cores and thus lighten up the darkness of the cosmos. On a clear night, thousands and thousands of twinkling lights can be seen in the sky. When looking deeper into the darkness of the universe, however, a great many bizarre shapes and structures reveal themselves: the deep-sky objects. Many of these cosmic gems are evidence of the births, lives and deaths of stars. Pay a visit to the most beautiful examples and examine what stars experience in the course of their lives!

AUGARTENPORZELLAN

The central theme of the jubilee exhibition is the dialogue between the designers and the users of Vienna porcelain since 1718. Select exhibits from the hands and minds of innovative artists and designers from the various eras enter into dialogue with their respective cultural context, distinctive creative styles thus being paired with their era's distinctive mood. The historical spectrum ranges from astounding miracles of Baroque craftsmanship to light-hearted Rococo objets d'art, from the golden glory of Neo-classical porcelain through the simplicity of Biedermeier to the allusive reminiscences of Historism, and then continues up to the present day via the delicate creations of Art Deco, the bright colours of the 1950s and the fascinating world of modern design.

In the Prater Museum, you enter the world of the wonderfully scary history of Viennese entertainment culture. Amusing exhibits and curiosities are on display, such as the automatic fortune-telling machine "Internationales Heiraths Vermittlungs Bureau" (International Marriage Agency) or a lindworm from a grotto ride torn down long ago. Of course, Vienna's legendary strongmen, who performed in the circus back then, are also represented in the exhibition. In the past, people went to the Prater amusement park to gape at individuals. The giant's suit and the half woman are relics of this strange form of entertainment in the 19th century.

The baroque Schönborn Garden Palace in Josefstadt houses the largest museum of folk life and folk art in Austria.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION “PLEASE WAIT” – AFGHAN ASYLUM SEEKERS SHOW QUILTS MADE OUT OF HAND-PRINTED FABRICS

Since autumn of 2015, many refugees have been told “Please wait!”. Waiting for an appointment for their interview, waiting for notices, waiting for the prospects of a better future. The association “Kultur10Vorne” in Frastanz in Vorarlberg enables the team of the “Sewing Parade” to realise various textile projects. Now, five asylum seekers present their unique tapestries and blankets in Vienna for the first time. The works are reminiscent of the use of form and colour in oriental tiles and carpets. They tell stories of experiences, of identity and hope.

OPENING NIGHT WITH MUSIC (8 PM)

SHORT GUIDED TOURS (8 PM, 9 PM AND 10 PM)

SEWING PARADE (6 PM–10 PM)

The “New Vienna” of the 1920s and early 1930s is a unique socio-political experiment, as it embraces all spheres of life – from social and health policy to education and housing issues.

The permanent exhibition covers four fields:

- “Red Vienna’s” history (1919–1934)
- “Red Vienna’s” communal housing and ancillary facilities
- Clubs of the Social Democratic Workers’ Party
- The festivities of Vienna’s working-class movement

SPECIAL EXHIBITION “KARL MARX IN VIENNA. ILLUSTRATED BY P. M. HOFFMANN”

To mark the bicentenary of Karl Marx’s birth, the Washhouse at the Karl-Marx-Hof residential estate is dedicating a special exhibition to the great theorist’s oeuvre. In August 1848, Karl Marx spent a few days in Vienna and gave three lectures. In the early 1860s, Marx was working from his London exile as a correspondent for the newspaper “Die Presse”. Karl Marx remained an omnipresent figure in “Red Vienna” during the First Republic – Otto Bauer further developed and disseminated Marx’s ideas in Social Democratic circles under the term “Austro-Marxism”.

How did people listen to music before there were music and video streaming platforms? The fascinating answer to this can be found at the Phono Museum Vienna. Immerse yourself in a world full of nostalgia and enjoy the authentic sound of days long gone, with the largest collection of phonographs and gramophones in the German-speaking world. Playing the original sound carriers from the museum archives on the respective machines makes complex historical connections audible – and tangible.

This year, the Phono Museum Vienna is proud to present and demonstrate a Neumann record-cutting lathe to interested visitors for the first time. When CDs were invented, many record studios sold their record equipment. Only few fully functional vinyl record-cutting lathes are left today.

VINYL RECORDING

In the course of the "ORF Long Night of Museums", every child and every visitor is invited to record their own voice on a vinyl record.

134 Magic Set Museum

Schönbrunner Straße 262, courtyard in the basement
1120 Vienna
www.zauberkasten-museum.at 0664 / 204 93 77

“Wondrous boxes for acquiring the spectacular art of magic” – The world’s biggest collection of magic sets. This large assortment of more than 3,000 different magic sets from three centuries is also listed in The Guinness Book of Records. With 200 showpieces on display, you can immerse yourself in a world full of fascination and magic. From the first book of magic tricks and the first magic set from the beginning of the 19th century to the newest and most extraordinary magic sets, everything is explained in detail. A show case with professional magic devices completes the exhibition.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION “ERNEST SEWELL (1889–1965)”

Ernest Sewell, the British jack of all trades among magic artists, was even allowed to perform for the British Royal Family in the 1920s. Afterwards, he had this formative experience proudly documented on all his magic sets. Sewell also performed in unusual art forms, as a paper tearing artist, a ventriloquist, a “living” puppeteer or a shadow play artist. Sort, style and variations of his magic arts are considered unique to this day and many notable magic artists from the past started their careers with the help of a magic set by Ernest Sewell.

CHILDREN’S PROGRAMME

On every full and half hour, a great magician performs magic tricks.

NOTE_ The “Long Night” starts at 6 pm with a magical wheel of fortune for children.

“Hands on, minds on, hearts on!”

At ZOOM Children’s Museum, it’s all about asking, touching, exploring, feeling, and playing: in hands-on exhibitions issues from the realms of art, science, and everyday culture are prepared in ways that are artful towards children.

ZOOM HANDS-ON EXHIBITION “EARTH & SOIL” (6 PM–10 PM)

For children ages 6 to 12.

Earth is the planet on which we live, and it also refers to the earth or soil under our feet. Fertile soil is especially important because the plants that grow in and on it nourish all of humankind. A bustling community of organisms lives here! Besides providing a habitat for moles, beetles and worms, it also serves as a home for mites, woodlice and fungi. Zooming in on this wondrous hidden world with a microscope reveals a teeming abundance of small, smaller and truly tiny creatures. In the new ZOOM hands-on exhibition you can explore this mysterious realm in a series of exciting stations and find out why it is so important to treat soil carefully and sustainably!

During the “ORF Long Night of Museums”, “Earth & Soil” is opened even for adults (as long as they are accompanied by children)!

In the year 1883, the private Imperial Royal Privileged Southern Railway Company inaugurated the section to Kaltenleutgeben. It turned out to be a success story, since the low-priced connection to the natural paradise close to the city enjoyed great popularity. It got quiet around the Kaltenleutgeben route after passenger transport was discontinued in 1951 and commercial transport in 2010. Since last year, however, nostalgic trains have been running on the romantic branch line regularly again.
